An Examination of the Situation.

Foreign Exchange Firm-Money Unchanged.

WALL STRRET, FRIDAY, Oct. 2-6 P. M.

We are repeating earlier experiences, but with a tone that gives assurance of restored confidence. The sense of demoralization has disappeared from business, and although men are cautious, and in some cases timid, they are in no sense scared. Thus in the present realizations that are breaking the force of the recent bull market we miss the element of alarm. Holders are selling stocks now not because they are airaid but because they appreciate their previous experience on the street.

THE STRONGEST FOUNDATION OF A BULL MARKET is a large short interest, and the creation of a ort interest is not compatible with a steadily upward movement. It is the short interest which prevents the market bursting, balloon fashion: hence, if the present reaction is the result of that condition of affairs, it is simply establishing the foundation of a future advance. The best fillustration of the character of a bull speculation or movement, whichever word is preferred in stocks, is to be found in the excuse given by an Irish lad for being late at school on a stormy winter morning-"Please, sir," said he, "it was the snow, for every step I took forward I went two backward." "If that was the case, sir," said his preceptor, "you wouldn't have got here at all." Please, sir, yes, sir," responded the boy, "I found that out, sir, so I turned around to go home and so reached here." So we have in a modified degree, an assurance in the present market that to sell stocks short is the best way to advance them. There has not been a time in the history of this was less reflected in current business. We are doing scarcely any discounting. We are waiting. The requirements of the 1st of October in respect to interest payments startled the financial community somewhat yesterday. There were the usual rumors of failures, including that of Spofford Brothers, successors to Spofford, Tillotson & Co., the well known ship-ping merchants, which we declined to refer to yesterday, believing it to be untrue. It is to-day authoritatively denied. The other failures reported are not of much moment, and it may be said that we have passed a point of liquidation with comparatively no shortcomings. NOVEMBER 1

THE EXPECTATION OF THE COUNTRY

brings us such promise of large disbursements that its assured payments overshadow any apprehended defaults. Of course it cannot be expected, after a period of settlement such as we have gone through, a shrinkage of values and an interruption of speculative activity, that we would emerge full fashioned, without spot or blemish, into a new condition of solvency. We may have even further lingering lessons of the panic, but what we wish to draw attention to is that they are circumscribed in their effects and no longer jeapardize the tone of the recovered markets. STOCKS declined % to % per cent before the first call, this having been quickly followed by a partial re-covery. At the first call there was a reaction to the lowest point, but after midday the market was firm and the highest prices of the day were current in some instances. The leading feature, as usual, was Lake Shore, which fluctuated frequently between 81% and 82%. Northwestern common sell off to 39% and afterwards recovered to 40. Pacific Mail declined from 50% to 49%, and afterward advanced to the former figure. Western Union receded from 80% to 80%, later rose to 81%. After the mentioned stocks Union Pacific, Wabash, Ono and Rock Island were most important. Mr. Amasa Stone, who some months since resigned the position of managing director of the Lake Shore Railroad, bas withdrawn his resignation and been reappointed. The stock market was unfavorable rumors. Prices reacted % to 1% per cent from the highest point of the day, but in the final dealings the market was steady in tone and prices showed a partial recovery. The leading western common, Rock Island, Union Pacific, Wabash and Pacific Mail. The subjoined table gives the sales of each stock for the day as also

An evening paper furnishes the following contribution to the current story, so nearly a contribution to the current story, so nearly a conclusion of liquidation:—

In the last hour of business there were rumors of another failure, and on inquiry we learned that the firm of S. Kaulman & Co., dealers in and exporters of cotton, grain and petroleum, as well as bankers, had been obliged to suspend payment. The amount of liabilities we could not ascertain, but the firm stood well, their commercial bills taking rank with the best. The suspension caused depression at the Stock Exchange. MEMORANDUM.

The Treasury disbursements for September, exclusive of interest or principal of public debt, amounted to $18,800,000.
